A modified secant method for semismooth equations

A generalization of the secant method to semismooth equations is proposed. Our goal is to obtain similar convergence as Newton's method, but without to evaluate any derivative. Convergence analysis and preliminary numerical results are presented.

Key Words. Secant method, semismooth equations, zerofinding AMS(MOS)

subject classifications. 65J15, 65H10